Why hold this conference?

There are many challenges facing health professionals and carers in the provision of nutrition and hydration to the sick and the aged. In the variety of settings where patients are there are significant issues surrounding medically administered nutrition and hydration. Topics include practical issues, ethical issues and medico-legal aspects.

Who could benefit from this conference?

All carers, nurses and other health professionals who care for patients in acute care, in palliative care, in residential care and aged care facilities. It will be of interest to all relevant health professionals, managers, pastoral care workers, and chaplains and members of the Human Services and Aged and Community Care Departments.
