

Process for Conversation, Learning and Sharing

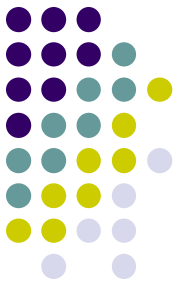

Caroline Chisholm
Centre for Health Ethics

What has brought you to be at this conference today?

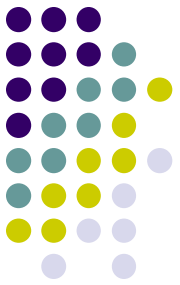

Share a little about your own interest in this topic, your experiences as either as care giver or recipient, your concerns or hopes for older people today.

Where do you hope the conversation moves in the next year or 10 years?

What have you heard from any of our three speakers this morning which has inspired you or made you think differently?

What is one thing from our content this morning that if implemented, would make a significant difference to the lives and experience of the older person in your residential setting, facility or workplace?
